FLOOD DANGER ABATES AFTER HEAVY RAIN

WAR JITTERS SPREADING IN MID-EAST

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — The Israeli government worked overtime today to calm new war jitters in the Middle East, caused by a coded broadcast Wednesday night calling up Israeli army reserves.

The army said the announcement should have been a routine notice to three reserve units being called for training maneuvers. But the army said the government radio had broadcast it in a way "likely to create panic in the country and misunderstanding abroad."

Neighboring Syria had immediately ordered all military men on leave back to duty and put five army reserve formations on 24-hour notice. Damascus radio said Syria had taken "all necessary measures to defend herself" in the wake of the Israeli announcement.

Jordan's higher defense council held a late-night emergency meeting and announced it was taking "all necessary measures to protect the Jordan border and security." The communique, broadcast by the government radio in Amman, did not specify what measures were being taken.

Shortly after the Israeli broadcast, which gave the impression of a large-scale mobilization order, Finance Minister Levi Eshkol interrupted a budget debate in Parliament to express the government's regret over the misunderstanding.

Premier David Ben-Gurion, who is also Israel's defense minister, met this morning with heads of the armed services. Afterward a spokesman said the "incorrect version of the army chief of staff's order as broadcast corresponds in no way to the decision or original (Turn to Page Eighteen)

96 Have Narrow Escape in Train Accident in Iowa

ATKINS, Iowa (AP)—The swift Milwaukee Road Arrow, with 96 sleeping passengers aboard, was derailed in the Atkins railroad yards early today.

Authorities said 11 persons — 9 passengers and 2 crewmen — were brought to St. Luke's Hospital in nearby Cedar Rapids. At least 20 other passengers were bruised and shaken up, but did not require hospitalization.

The Chicago-bound Arrow, one of the Milwaukee Road's finest trains, was made up of two coaches, a pullman, three baggage and mail cars, and a twin diesel unit.

All cars except the first diesel unit were derailed but remained upright. The skidding cars tore up about 1,600 feet of track on the main line.

"The reorganization in Pennsylvania is an integral part of a nationwide plan to streamline and strengthen the Army National Guard and adapt it to the changed

34 Students Squeeze Into Foreign Auto

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Thirty-four members of Kappa Sigma fraternity at Southern Methodist University squeezed themselves into a small foreign car here for what they said is a world record.

Eleven members got into the trunk and 23 into the body of the small four-door Renault Dauphine sedan after they learned that 18 New York University students had stuffed themselves into a similar vehicle.

Red China Radio Says Dalai Lama Is Now in India

LONDON (AP)—Red China's radio declared today Tibet's Dalai Lama has taken refuge in India.

The broadcast, quoting the New China News Agency, said the Dalai Lama left Tibet "under duress by the rebellious elements."

There has been no definite word on the fate of the Dalai Lama since fighting broke out between Tibetans and Chinese Communist occupation forces on March 20.

But unofficial reports said the 23-year-old spiritual and political leader of his mountaintop country was with rebel forces in southern Tibet and perhaps trying to reach asylum in India.

The Peiping broadcast said he and his party "arrived in India on March 21" and that by order of the Indian government, police authorities had been sent (Turn to Page Eighteen)

DULLES RECOVERING FROM FLU

JUPITER ISLAND, Fla. (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles continued to rest in the Florida sun today. His appetite was described as fine by his Army doctor.

Dulles went swimming, lolling in the sunshine and played backgammon with Mrs. Dulles at this resort Wednesday. He is recuperating from a cancer operation.

Governor Abandons Hope Of Support for Tax Plan From Rebellious Demos

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence abandoned hope today of gaining support for his proposed 3½ per cent sales tax among a group of rebellious House Democrats.

"We'll have to get Republican support to pass it in the House," Lawrence told his weekly news conference in reference to his proposal to boost the sales levy from 3 to 3½ per cent and broaden its coverage.

Asked specifically if he had given up hopes of gaining support of House Democrats who have opposed his tax plan, Lawrence replied:

"I'm afraid so."

But the governor explained that he had "some success" in lining up votes last week among House members for the program and that "I'm still pursuing it."

The governor expressed a strong willingness to listen to any suggested changes in his plan but quickly emphasized that this could not be pictured as a willingness to compromise.

He had a crisp "yep" in answers to queries on whether he still had hopes of gaining GOP House support for his tax measure.

He described his entire tax program as one he felt would be conducive to bringing new industries into the commonwealth and urged that such a climate be maintained in Pennsylvania.

Meanwhile, Republican leaders held fast to their stand that Lawrence would have to pass the proposed 264-million-dollar tax proposal with Democratic House votes alone. (Turn to Page Eighteen)

Auto Workers at Kohler Plant Has Demonstration

By HARRY CHANDLER
KOHLER, Wis. (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union summoned its members today to demonstrate that its bitter strike against the Kohler Co.—which began April 5, 1954—"is still very much alive."

The union planned to use the maximum number of pickets permitted under Wisconsin law—25 at each of the sprawling plumbing-ware factory's five gates—in a parade arranged by striking Local 833.

This, said E. H. Kohlhaugen, recording secretary, will be the union's only observance of the anniversary, which falls on Sunday this year. Its purpose, he added, is "to demonstrate only that our strike is still very much alive."

Despite the union's declaration, the general feeling in Kohler and nearby Sheboygan is that the nation's oldest and, at times, most turbulent labor dispute, is just about over.

Certainly, the strike is in a state of arrested development.

Smoke Edict Favors Quaker School Co-eds

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Guilford College, 122-year-old Quaker school in this tobacco-producing state, has finally given the go-ahead. Women students, who weren't allowed to smoke within a mile of the school, may now do so at the college soda shop.

Tibetan Rebels Still Battling Chinese Commies

By SPENCER MOOSA
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China's official Central News Agency reported today that Tibetan rebels and Chinese Communist troops are still fighting 185 miles northeast of Lhasa as well as near the Tibetan capital.

Central News said the report came from intelligence sources in Lhasa. There was no way of checking its accuracy, but Peiping radio said speakers at a meeting in Lhasa urged the Red army "to continue mopping up the rebels in remote areas of Tibet."

The Central News Agency report said more than 100 Communist troops were killed Monday and Tuesday in the Heiho area and fighting was still in progress. Communist reinforcements, from Sinkiang, bound for Lhasa, were reported to have arrived at Heiho, a small highway town 165 miles northeast of the capital and 80 miles from Tibet's frontier with the Chinese province of Tsinghai.

The report also said the rebels controlled the highway between Lhasa and Shigatse, the second largest town in Tibet 140 miles southwest of Lhasa and the site of the lamastery headed by the Panchen Lama.

This report, if correct, could mean that the Panchen Lama, named by the Communists to replace the Dalai Lama as head of the Tibetan local government, so far could not reach the capital.

Masked Gunmen Visit Bel Air Dinner Party

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Three masked gunmen invaded a home in exclusive Bel Air Wednesday night and robbed dinner party members, including actress Selene Walters, of $35,000 in jewels and furs.

Police said the robbers, wearing silk stockings on their faces, entered the home of Nina G. Anderson while she was entertaining Miss Walters and Eldred Meyer, a Beverly Hills business man.

Miss Walters and Meyer were forced at gunpoint into a den, where they were bound.

Overnight Downpour Sends Allegheny Tributaries Over Banks in Some Places

River Forecasting Service of U. S. Weather Bureau in Pittsburgh said it saw no immediate danger of a serious flood in this vicinity after all-night rains dumped nearly two inches of water on the Allegheny Valley watershed.

The overnight downpour sent Allegheny Valley tributaries to leave their banks in low lying areas in the early morning hours. Conewango creek caused minor flooding to farm land and summer cottages between Warren and Russell.

Tornadoes Hit Communities In Florida

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A heavy crippling fog blanketed the New York area for the second day today, while tornadoes struck two communities in Florida. The high winds killed one person, injured at least nine others and caused damage estimated at more than a million dollars.

At least two lives were lost as a result of the fog blanket in New York, many airliner flights were canceled, and the near-zero visibility anchored the liner Queen Mary—the world's largest—near the exit to New York Harbor. Idlewild Airport was shut down tight overnight and La Guardia's business was limited to the take-off of eight planes.

The Florida tornadoes hit Dade City, about 50 miles west of Orlando and Azalea Park, a suburb of Orlando. The sheriff's office reported property damage of one million dollars at Dade City. Many houses and business buildings there were damaged or destroyed and power lines were torn down.

One death was reported at Azalea Park and at least seven were injured. The Weather Bureau warned of further possible damaging winds in south and east central Florida, but added that further twisters were not likely.

April showers, meanwhile, continued to splash areas in the eastern third of the nation and the far Northwest, but fair weather prevailed in the major part of the country.

The stormy weather which struck the central plains Tuesday and Wednesday ended. Seven persons were killed and 61 others injured in Texas and Oklahoma, hit by tornadoes and severe thunderstorms.

The biggest precipitation belt during the early morning was from Michigan southward across the Ohio Valley into the southern and southeastern sections of the country. Snow fell in parts of Michigan.

Nearly 1½ inches of rain doused Augusta, Ga., and more than one inch fell in West Palm Beach, Fla. and Detroit. Thunderstorms rumbled along the Georgia coast and hail, with strong winds, swept the Columbus, Miss., area.

The college, which was to have resumed classes Tuesday after an Easter recess, will not reopen until Monday because of the death.

Last night Father Egan's body was taken from the funeral home to St. Peter's Church in a ceremony including the chanting of the Divine Office of the Dead. Burial will be at St. Francis Monastery in Loretto, Pa., Friday at 10 a. m.

Air Force Plane Crash Carries Four to Death

ORTING, Wash. (AP)—Trailing a ribbon of flame, an Air Force transport plane carrying four crewmen crashed and exploded five miles from this western Washington town Wednesday night.

Air Force crews could find no survivors. Witnesses said the four-engine, military version of the civilian DC-6 was afire when it crashed.

There was no explanation of the crash, although Air Force officers said the pilot indicated a collision with a fault. He radioed McChord Air Force Base: "We have hit something, or something has hit us."

No Definite Date Set For Grace's Operation

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—Princess Grace of Monaco will be under the knife only six or seven minutes during her appendectomy, her Philadelphia surgeon says.

Dr. James B. Lehman said he would perform the operation with the assistance of a Lausanne surgeon, Dr. Jean-David Buffat, in a local clinic "one of these days, this week, possibly the next."

CHIEF EXECUTIVE SPEAKS AT OPENING OF THE TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF N.A.T.O.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower summoned the free world today to display unity, courage and perseverance in a quest for world peace, despite Communist "menace and threats."

"Those who respect the dignity of man will not fail before the magnitude of the task," he said.

In an address prepared for the opening session of the 10th anniversary meeting of the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council, Eisenhower said the real need for world peace is that the Communists abandon their "purpose of world domination."

"We shall never cease to encourage such a change," he said, but added that free men must be prepared for years of tension and bickering with a force that menaces the very spiritual foundations of Western civilization.

Eisenhower addressed himself mainly to the long-range problems of a troubled world and gave only passing mention to the Berlin crisis which lends urgency to the NATO meeting.

Speaking in apparent reference to the upcoming foreign ministers meeting with the Soviet Union on the Berlin and related problems, and the probable summit session to follow, Eisenhower said: "We shall always keep open the door of honest discussion—even to those whose creed is world domination."

"We shall continue to make concrete and realistic proposals for disarmament, for a just solution to the problems of Germany, for European security and for cooperation in the newly opening realm of outer space," he said.

NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak, on the speakers list just ahead of Eisenhower, applied himself more directly to current matters.

He told the Council in a prepared speech that the Soviet Union by raising the issue of ouster of Western forces from Berlin "is playing a game in which the ultimate stake is the very existence of our European political institutions and defense systems."

Spaak said NATO "cannot afford to relax."

Spaak reminded his audience that the Soviet Union continues to strengthen its military power and said it is now launching a political offensive against Europe itself.

Recalling the history of NATO, Spaak said the free world countries did not seek this union immediately after World War II.

"It was imposed on us by the dangerous, unacceptable policy followed by the U.S.S.R.," he said.

Spaak said NATO has achieved two main goals—the creation of a defense "now strong enough to deter any act of aggression," and the maintenance of unity.

Spaak said too that NATO

Ike Planning To Pass Up Baseball for Golf

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is planning to pass up baseball for golf next week.

He plans to leave Monday or Tuesday for a few days' vacation at the Augusta National Golf Club in Georgia.

And barring a change of plans, the White House said, Eisenhower won't be in the capital a week from today to toss out the first baseball in the season's opening game between the Washington Senators and the Baltimore Orioles of the American League.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon probably will substitute for him.

Forecaster Credits Civil Defense Emergency Work

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Vernon Houghton, river forecaster of the federal-state flood forecasting service, said today Civil Defense officials should be credited with doing much to prevent excessive flood damage.

Houghton made the comment in releasing an estimate of the damage caused by floods in the July 14-18 period last year in western Pennsylvania. Damage was estimated at $3,531,891. Savings due to flood warnings totaled $1,213,000.

"In the old days we telephoned the mayors or burgesses or some other official of communities that precautions should be taken because of our forecast of rising waters," Houghton said. "Sometimes the officials took action and sometimes they didn't. Now, we notify Civil Defense authorities and they act immediately."

As chief river forecaster it is Houghton's job to predict stream crests. During a flood he's almost on continuous duty.

The report which he released today has been forwarded to Washington to help government officials in their planning to prevent future floods.

Around the Area With The County Agent!

By Bernie Wingert, Warren County Agricultural Agent

This morning my wife said "Look outside—the lawns are turning green again." And sure enough for the first time since last fall the neighbors lawn actually looked like grass again. Certainly there are still plenty of dead places, and I imagine many people are rather discouraged with the looks of their lawn, but it's only going to take a few more all right rains like we had last night to really turn things green.

Let's discuss a few things that you might do to help your lawn along in the month of April. Good lawns result from a number of correct practices—all done at the right time. These need not be costly or greatly involved. By making careful plans and following each step in season, time and effort can be conserved and expenses held to a minimum.

One of the first things to do now that the snow is gone (and we hope for good) is to rake. Never use a steel garden rake on the lawn, nor any rake that pulls out grass plants. Such rakes open up the turf for weed seeds to germinate. Instead use a broom-type rake that will not dig into the grass. This kind of rake can be used successfully for removing matted down leaves. Be sure that you remove the matted leaves as quickly as possible to prevent smothering the grass.

Now, how about the business of rolling. Actually the roller is an overrated lawn implement, grader, or a tool to smooth out the uneven humps and bumps. It can't be done! Another common error is to roll the lawn when it's too wet with too heavy a roller. This results in the soil becoming compacted and tight and what happens? The soil sheds water instead of absorbing it and the grass roots tend to be shallow because of poor penetration of air and water. Rolling can be beneficial in pressing grass roots heaved out by frost back into the soil. But please, please, use only a light roller. Roll any time this month when foot prints in the turf show no moisture.

Late fall fertilization (October and November) may increase the disease problem in the grass. The same is true with early spring fertilization. Wait until late April or early May to put on fertilizer. This is contrary to all the advertisements which you see. They say early spring is the time to fertilize. I'll leave it up to you to decide what you're going to do. Next week we'll continue this discussion. In the meantime you can get the trash picked up and the raking done.

THE SAME OLD WET AND MUDDY STORY — Heavy rains contributed greatly to the overflow of the creek at Hackney Meadows as this picture shows. Diplomatic Impunity—Not in the Script—Education?—Last Straw—Bottled Morale

BY JERRY BENNETT
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A Washington area patrolman stopped a car the other night that was hurtling without lights down a busy suburban street. To the officer's surprise, the occupants turned out to be Czech Embassy Third Secretary Jaroslav Skacil and a lady friend.

Since diplomats are immune from arrest and traffic tickets, the cop could only caution Skacil to take it easy and explain to him the benefits of obeying the law. The diplomat promised to behave.

Two hours later the same policeman stopped an auto doing 70 m.p.h. in a 35-mile zone. Sitting behind the wheel with an embarrassed look on his face was none other than Jaroslav Skacil. Anyone else would have gotten a heavy fine. But all the cop could do in this case was repeat his lecture.

WASSILY LEONTIEF, Russian-born Harvard economist, returned recently from a tour of the Soviet Union where he had been invited to give a series of university lectures.

After one question-and-answer session, a group of students asked him why he chose to live in a capitalist country. Why didn't he return to his homeland and help build the socialist state?

"I'll be glad to answer that," said Dr. Leontief. "After living 20 years in a free country, I wouldn't care to live anywhere else."

Somewhat to his surprise, the Russian students spontaneously burst into what the Communists—when describing response to Khrushchev's speeches—call "Stormy, Prolonged Applause."

REP. TOLBERT H. MACDONALD (D-Mass.) believes the government is confused about the definition of "education." His charge stems from an action taken by last year's Congress which added recorded readings from the classics to the postal regulations' classification of "educational material." Everything in this category can be sent as low-cost fourth class mail.

Recently, however, the Post Office Department designated all records as educational material. Tolbert complains that he's having trouble recognizing the intellectual value of many of the records that are now being mailed at reduced rates. The ones which bother him most are "Whole Lot of Shakin' Going On," "Dinner With Dracula," and "Pickin' On the Wrong Chicken."

SEN. NOBBS COTTON (R-N.H.) complains that some of the legislative compromises made on Capitol Hill remind him of the definition of a camel. "It's a horse that's been put together by a committee."

REP. SIDNEY E. YATES (D-Ill.) likes to tell the story of a Marine colonel friend who commanded troops on a small island off the China coast during the Korean War. One day the Reds started shelling his installation and blew up the water tank.

After the bombardment, an admiral visited the colonel and asked if he needed anything. Pointing out the demolished water tank, the colonel explained that he and his men were desperately in need of something to drink.

The admiral promised to see what he could do. Next day the Navy delivered several cases labeled "Distilled Water."

That night the admiral called to find out if the cargo had been delivered. The colonel's reply was a short, eloquent, enthusiastic "Yesh."

LUDLOW

Moriah Sunday School presented an Easter program which opened with an organ and piano duet by Judy Johnson and Carol Ralston. For the morning worship service, the Rev. Carl Eliason chose as sermon subject "Meet the Risen Saviour" the choir, accompanied by Judy Johnson, singing the anthem "Rejoice Evermore." Bruce Olson was acolyte and flowers on the altar were presented by Walter, Mary and John Cox in honor of Mrs. Walter Cox.

At First Mission church, the Rev. Paul Carlson of Kane gave the Easter sermon with Norma Bergquist as vocal soloist for the anthem. Special services were conducted in the Sunday school, Brenda Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weatherly, Rochester, N. Y., the mother being the former Nancy Eckstrom; and Cynthia Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thornton, Ludlow, were baptized.

The Luther League held a regular meeting at Moriah church with Mrs. Lawrence Larson as acting counselor and Cathy Burns, junior counselor. Both were aided in the program by Judy Johnson, program chairman.

Ladies Aid of First Mission church met with Mrs. William Beckwith presiding. The program included a piano solo by Susannah Krantz; a guitar solo and reading by Mrs. Beverly Rae; reading by Norma Bergquist and vocal duet by Miss Bergquist and Mrs. Beckwith. Pastor Paul Carlson of Kane offered meditation, coffee and social hour followed with Mrs. Gust Anderson and Mrs. Victor Bergquist as hostesses.

Ludlow Television Association held an annual meeting with John Straneva presiding. All officers were re-elected as follows: John Straneva, president; Homer Gilfert, vice president; Evert Johnson, financial secretary; Enoch Nelson, recording secretary; Mrs. Lawrence Larson and Bert Carlson, auditors.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Swanson of Meadville spent Easter weekend at the Evert Johnson home. Mr. and Mrs. Clair Carlson and family of Bluefield, W. Va., Gustav Carlson, Warren, and Mrs. J. P. Riley, State College, with Oscar Carlson and daughter, Sandra of Mercer, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Carlson Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Nelson spent the holiday in Cleveland with Miss Louise Nelson. Miss Nelson spent Palm Sunday in Ludlow.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Carlson and daughter, Sue, of Kenmore, N. Y., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Carlson.

Mrs. Frank Nelson is in Washington, D. C., on vacation. Miss Rose Nelson spent last weekend in Cleveland as guests of Miss Alphon and Mrs. Edlund.

Mirrored in Our Times

Almost every day finds another flu victim laid up, many of them the youngsters. Chances are Mom might be interested in something different in the line of small "take-home tokens." Even the healthy ones with birthdays this month appreciate a unique approach and that's just what we have to talk about. Why not take home a pair of lobsters—or three wise owls—or a hot dog? Or how's about poodles—a string of brook trout—poodles—or clever dolls? These may sound like quite a gift, but we've only mentioned part of the actual story. You'll find the whole story at—

The Warren Drug Store, where adorable figures as described, are created in Austria by master craftsmen. These boxed delights are practical, too, because they're reproductions in the finest castile soap! Never have you seen such an unusual gift item... priced at just $1.25. Be sure to stock up a supply for now and the future. Remember—at The Warren Drug Store.

There's plenty of entertainment in store for Warrenites again this month. Tonight, for example, you may have the rare privilege of hearing the wonderful Brown University Glee Club and the equally fine Warren Barbershoppers chorus and quartets in a combined concert. You'll have a pleasant evening of fine music at Beauty auditorium and tickets may be purchased at the door.

Members of the Junior class at Warren High school are in the midst of a rehearsal schedule for an amusing play "Time Out For Ginger." April 17 and 18 are the dates, the place being Warren High school auditorium. The play centers around the peculiar but comical ideas of Ginger, portrayed by Rosemarie Dangelo, who proved her acting ability in the "Evening of Plays." Tickets will soon be available—so let's support these enthusiastic young folks in their annual theatrical adventure.

The first little green spikes of this year's tulips and the like are braving the atmosphere and we've seen the croci colors in certain local lawns. On Easter Sunday a few golfers were at least out practicing with an eye open toward the day when 9-holes can be accounted for at least. Others advise that they've actually managed a few holes between snow storms. Sure sounds good! And once the weather has changed—clothing will change right along with it. The warm, winter apparel will find the nearest mothproof lodgings and out will come the comfortable, casual sportswear.

If your casual sportswear comes from The Style Shop you're bound to score almost instant success in any field or on any course. This season's handsome attire styled by famous Puritan sportswear is already the talk of the town. Why wait—stop this week at The Style Shop and be ready with "the best in menswear."

Although some of our local folks have taken off for European cruises, other familiar faces are noted as having returned from southern vacations. It's good to see them, although one feels envious of the tans acquired and the "rested look" that accompanies such a holiday. Before long, everyone will be home for a while, only to take off for summer trips once school is out in June. How time does go, by!

and other equipment was $375,982,000 at the end of 1958, the report states. It also points out that during the past ten years Penelec spent $256,000,000 and during the 1958 spent $43,800,000 on new facilities in the 32 counties served.

Extensive improvements and extensions were made to distribution facilities in local communities during the past year at a cost of $12,900,000. Considerable progress was made on construction of a major addition to the Shawville Generating Station and in constructing a 230,000 volt transmission line from Shawville to Towanda. The latter is scheduled to be completed within the next 30 days while one new unit will be completed at Shawville late this year and a second new unit will be finished in 1960.

One of the major employee achievements during the year was the completion of an outstanding safety record for which they were given the National Safety Council's Award of Merit and the Pennsylvania Electric Association's Safety Certificate. Special awards for completing the year without a single lost-time accident were earned by employees at Warren, Saxton, Williamsburg, Oil City, Front Street, and Shawville generating stations.

Increase in Price Of Penn'a Crude Draws Comment

Commenting on the announcement by the Seep Purchasing Agency of an increase in Pennsylvania Grade Crude The Derrick has this to say:

Bradford Transit Company recently increased its gathering rate five cents a barrel and National Transit Company boosted its pipeline tariffs, effective today, at varying rates from four and a half cents to six and a half cents a barrel depending on the point of delivery.

It is understood The Eureka Pipe Line will seek a rate increase. The new Eureka prices give no reflection to any change in the Eureka pipeline rate.

The overall increase in delivered costs, including pipeline tariff changes, reflects approximately 17 cents a barrel, Mr. Selden said.

Waverly Oil Works of Pittsburgh announced it was boosting Buckeye crude 17 cents a barrel. Its new posting for that southeastern Ohio-produced crude is $3.57.

Wolf's Head Oil Refining Company of Oil City, Franklin Refinery of Franklin, Kendall Refining Company of Bradford and Pennsylvania Refining Company of Butler, said they were going along with the price increases.

Valvoline Oil Company of Freedom, Pa., said it would have an announcement today regarding any possible price changes.

RADIO and TV

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Persons in public life increasingly make use of television panel programs to express views that make news. One of these, in which youth asks the questions, is "College News Conference" (ABC-TV, Sunday, 1 p.m., EST). Next Sunday, for example, the foreign ministers of the top NATO powers will appear on the program in observance of the 10th anniversary of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

They will be questioned by Ruth Hagy, producer and moderator of the program instead of the usual panel of five young people. Miss Hagy said the purpose of the program not only is to learn the views of prominent guests but also to "present American youth in a positive light." The panelists are selected each week from a list of 700 colleges.

Miss Hagy said: "The young college people we encounter are more global-minded than when I was in school. But they don't seem able to work up the passions and indignations that we did when I was in college."

"They seem to feel that the era of social welfare reform is pretty much over. Their paramount concern is the threat of war."

"I don't think they're more conformist than we were. Young people always have had a great emotional need to live in groups. They establish their own clothing and slang and the like. It helps them cut the umbilical cord to their parents."

"To my mind the sad thing about so many young people today is that they don't seem young enough. They're all so realistic and have an astonishingly high degree of acceptance of things as they are."

INDUSTRY ON PARADE

Warren Jaycees will join with area residents and industry this Friday and Saturday in a salute to the many and varied types of products which are produced right here in the Warren area. Scene of this salute will be the annual Jaycee Industry on Parade Show at Beaty Cafeteria.

Sixteen of the Warren Area's leading industries will be displaying their processes and manufactures at the big show, and an interesting and educational time is promised to all who attend.

It is well to note that Jaycees are taking this opportunity to have their eight foreign visitors meet the public and at the same time acquire a working knowledge of the industry extant in the Warren area. Their presence alone is enough to insure a worthwhile time, and area residents are expected to turn out en masse to view the big show.

Jaycees and local industry are to be congratulated for combining forces to make this the best Industrial Show ever presented in this area.

SPRING FIRE WARNING

Following out the slogan "Prevention is the best fire control", "Spring Fire Warnings," furnished by the local office of the Pennsylvania Department of Forests & Waters, sponsored by the supervisors and distributed by Volunteer Fire Departments of the district are posted in most of the wooded areas in the county.

The posters call attention to the fact that the area has experienced one of the highest forest and brush fire occurrence records in Pennsylvania, most of which were caused by children or by trash and brush burning.

Advice on the poster contains the following information:

- "Children should not be permitted to have matches!
- "Fields or other areas should not be burned without Fire Warden assistance!
- "Trash, brush, etc., must not be burned within 20 feet of nearest grass, leaves or other flammable material.
- "No burning when windy!
- "Burn before 10 o'clock in the morning!
- "Consult Fire or Forest officials if prolonged burning is anticipated! — Call: Warren 1271.
- "Do not leave any fire unwatched!"

WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW
 Associated Press News Analyst
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Every since in a while a politician leaves this citadel of stuffy party platitudes after a career which makes you feel like saying: "Thanks for some cool air, for a change."
 Meade ALCORN is such a one.
 With a few moments of frankness he denied, although the dent disappeared fast, the long tradition which seems to require political big-wigs to slam-bang the opposition only and never admit defeat beforehand.
 ALCORN, 51, did his share of slamming before he resigned Wednesday as chairman of the Republican National Committee after more than 22 months of trying to steer his party down a victory road.
 But it was his plain talk — months before the 1958 elections — that his party figured to lose which anguished some of his fellow-Republicans and astonished politicians of both parties.
 ALCORN, a lawyer who is going back to his practice in Connecticut, looked over the prospects last April and announced to newsmen "it isn't in the cards" for the Republicans to win the Senate.
 He thought his party might barely make it in the House.
 Among politicians this umbrella of gloom which ALCORN raised over his party's chances may have seemed unheard of, unnecessary, unprofessional and even unpatriotic. It was certainly unheeded.
 But it was realistic. And it was justified, for what seemed at the time like wild optimism from his opposite number, Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, turned out to be rather conservative.
 Butler predicted the Democrats would win perhaps 12 seats from the Republicans in the Senate and 40 in the House. In the 1958 elections they actually took 13 Republican Senate seats and 47 in the House.

It was the biggest Democratic victory since early New Deal days.
 But ALCORN gave his party another dose of jolting frankness last January when the Republican National Committee met in Des Moines to hold a wake over the 1958 disaster and plan for victory in 1960.

ALCORN told committee members they had better dream up a new look for the party or get set for another shellacking.
 "Today," he said, "we are being out-voted, out-talked, out-spent and out-worked by an alert, disciplined, politically astute opposition."

"In politics you can't stand still. Either you go forward or you go backward. And it's high time for the Republican party to shift gears. It's time we snatched off the 'big-business' false-face that the Democrats placed on us years ago."

"It's time we erased the dollar sign they painted on our vest."

ALCORN, like Butler on the other side of the fence, had no easy time trying to get Republicans to see eye-to-eye or work together. Butler has to try to keep Southern Democratic conservatives running happily in the same harness with Northern liberals. ALCORN had the same task with the conservatives and liberals of his party.

Even if ALCORN made a policy of sweet-talk he couldn't have pleased everybody.
 Highly conservative Rep. Clare Hoffman, Michigan Republican, was so outraged by ALCORN's selection to be the party's general in January 1957 that he reacted immediately with this statement: "The conservative wing of the Republican party has been liquidated and is about to be buried."

Thought for Today

In that I command thee this day to love the Lord thy God, to walk in his ways, and to keep his commandments and his statutes and his judgments, that thou mayest live and multiply; and the Lord thy God shall bless thee in the land whither thou goest to possess it.—Deut. 30:16.

Religion is the tie that connects man with his Creator, and holds him to His throne.—Daniel Webster.

Here and There

A former Times-Mirror pressman who migrated to California a few years ago to follow his trade and later take up the fascinating hobby of raising chinchillas for profit was given considerable prominence recently in the Inglewood Daily News, published at Inglewood, Calif., where he is employed. The person in question is Frank Williams, who had been employed by the Times Publishing Co. for many years before he decided to "go west." Accompanying the story was a double column picture showing Williams with two professional models, Rita Le Roy, and Kay Lide. They were wearing gorgeous chinchilla capes at a style show sponsored by the Inglewood Woman's Club, with all proceeds designated for the scholarship fund. Regarding the chinchilla display arranged by Williams, the article, appearing under a double column head, "Wonderland Styles Shown for Milady", the article says: Chinchilla that lovely, luxurious fur that most of us cannot hope to afford was starred but brightly-eyed beamed at Boston Store classics modeled beaming budget-burdened "babes." The chinchilla is "home grown" by no less a person than Frank Williams, a modest man of many talents who calls his local chinchilla farm Williams Chinchilla Ranch. The telephone number is OR 8-8339. Call him, you might be able to make a deal even you could afford. Gal, you might even save a thousand dollars. Anyway if there is anything more lush, softer, prettier, more flattering to femininity than chinchilla we'll put in with you. It is the most. Frank Williams displayed only one superb capelet but then he had on hand some chinchilla cuffs, right for a coat or a dress, some collars to caress the cheeks of any woman; other delightful dalliances for the provocative woman. But the meat of the show consisted of the styles shown through the courtesy of popular Ira Kauffman of the Boston Store. Rita Le Roy finished, charming and also down-to-earth commentaries described the styles as professional models paraded. Inglewood's own Rose Marie Reid contributed costumes for around the swimming pool. We liked "Malaya" and "Carnation" and the prices are not too steep. These suits, so glamorous, are durable. (We've worn one for three years) still looks nice. Don Loper's "sport shirt" is a must. A ten dollar bill does it. We liked Janis Kay's "Capris" and Gloria Swanson's "Forever Young" are forever ours. We've been wearing them ever since Gloria put them on the market. By the way the price is absurdly within the lowest budget.

Then there were Jonathan Logan's beautiful creations.

Interesting information is contained in the following account of the meeting of the board of school directors held in April, 1909, as taken from the Evening Times: All members of the school board excepting one from the fifth ward were present at the meeting held Monday evening. Bills amounting to $821 were ordered paid, and Robert Henderson was elected janitor of the Fourth Ward building. The resignation of Miss Ellen Thein in Grade 7, Jefferson building, was accepted and the pupils in her room were divided among the other two rooms. Considerable discussion was evoked over application for use of buildings during the summer season, for vacation school, but no action was taken. The building committee was authorized to dispose of, or tear down, the old frame building on Hickory street and some regulations for discipline in the High School were adopted. Dr. Chapman was appointed one of the judges in the Hazeltine prize contest, and an advertisement to cost $5 was ordered inserted in the Dragon, the High School publication. A petition from the High school for early sessions was tabled. The matter of shower baths for the girls, gymnasium was discussed and referred to the building committee to investigate and report. The board accepted an invitation from the D.A.R. to attend exercises in the Library theatre on the evening of April 20th and will attend in a body. The building committee was directed to visit the Academy Lands on Thursday of this week in company with the Sewer Committee of the Town Council, who were at the board meeting to look at the proposition to sell some of the district's lands for a sewer disposal plant, after which the directors adjourned to meet at

Diplomats Brace for May Foreign Ministers' Powwow

BY PETER EDSON
 NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—In connection with the forthcoming meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers, May 11, to prepare for the summit conference on the German situation later in the summer, somebody should write a book on the history of these 16-year-old, exclusive debating societies.
 The Council of Foreign Ministers could be a great force for world peace. To the extent that it might try to dictate to smaller powers, it would be suspect. But if it could confine itself to solving the differences between the big powers, it might be more effective insurance against World War III.

AS REVIEWED IN A PREVIOUS dispatch, there were five or nine CFM meetings—depending on how you count them—in which the Russians took part from 1943 through 1944.

What is listed officially as the sixth CFM meeting was held in Paris May 23-June 20, 1949. Dean Acheson had become secretary of state. The Council was convened to work on German and Austrian peace treaties, after the breakdown of these negotiations in London in 1947. It failed again.

In April 1949, America, Britain and France had merged their three zones of occupation in Germany. The German Federal Republic (West Germany) was established.

TO COUNTER THESE MOVES the Russians proposed CFM meetings on German demilitarization in June 1950. There were four-power exploratory talks of deputies in Paris March 4-June 21, 1951. But the three western powers finally decided that another foreign ministers' meeting would be useless.

The Russians made another proposal for a CFM meeting to be held in Washington in July, 1951, but it was rejected.
 So the next CFM session—officially the seventh—was held in Berlin, Jan. 25-Feb. 18, 1954, with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles taking over. Again the foreign ministers were unable to reach agreement on Austria and Germany. But they did agree to hold a Far East peace parley, to be attended by Communist China.

This was the Geneva conference of April 26-July 21, 1954. It resulted in a cease-fire in Indochina and a division of Communist North and free South Viet Nam.

Two further meetings of western foreign ministers in London and Paris during the fall of 1954 brought agreement to take West Germany into NATO, to keep allied forces in Germany, to end military occupation and to grant the Federal Republic of Germany full sovereignty.

The fourth summit conference in Geneva in July, 1955, led to the eighth CFM, also in Geneva, Oct. 27-Nov. 16, 1955.

GOING BACK ON THEIR agreement to reunify Germany through free elections, the Russians came in with their same old proposals: Abolish NATO, disarm Germany, withdraw all foreign troops in Europe and sign a general treaty on collective European security, prior to unifications of Germany.

The western powers countered with the Eden plan for creating a stronger, unified free Germany.
 In the three and a half years since that time, there have been no diplomatic discussions. There have been only repeated Communist demands for new summit conferences.

the call of the president."

And here's another mention of the argument that was under way back in 1909 about the site for the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument: "The County Commissioners as yet have not definitely decided upon the location of the Soldiers' Monument. The people in favor of it standing on the river bank are still securing signers to their petitions and it is expected that over fifty per cent of the voters of the county will have their names affixed to it in a short time. The matter is one that excites much interest in the town and county, as the selection of the site will go far towards making the handsome monument as attractive as it should be."

Hollywood News

By MURRAY FROMSON
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jack Teagarden, the old pro of Dixieland jazz, wants to put heart back into the music business.

After 35 years of trombone tooting on three continents, Teagarden says he's a little frightened by some trends in American music.

With a nostalgic look in his eyes, he told of the era which produced Tatum, Goodman, Miller, Bigard and Armstrong.

"You hear a lot of noise these days, but what does it all mean?"

"There's hardly a demand for anything good any more. Everyone used to enjoy music. It was festive. It was gay. It was romantic. You could dance to it. It came from the heart."

"Everything is a fad now. Echo chambers, chimes, howling choruses — anything to get a different sound."

Teagarden isn't worried about the quality of today's performers. "Technically, they're better than the musicians of 20 or 30 years ago," he said.

Jack does much of the arranging for his own band. On a recent tour of Asia for the State Department, he stopped in New Delhi and asked for the score for the Indian national anthem.

The only one available was for the 90-piece Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, which visited India a few years ago. Teagarden hurriedly re-arranged for his sextet.

That tour ended, Teagarden entered a hospital here for a stay of two months. The effects of extensive surgery show. He has a gaunt look and seems older than his 53 years.

Despite the changes in music Teagarden still finds large audiences for his playing, which has ranked him among the all-time greats of American jazz.

What bothers him is that rock 'n' roll and "cool" jazz are causing Americans to lose touch with real American jazz.

The thing to fear most in cancer is fear itself. The American Cancer Society warns that fear leads to delay in seeing the doctor. And delay in cancer can mean death.

TYPES OF VACATION

A vacation should afford maximum relaxation and minimal stress. Three weeks in bed sounds perfect but is far from ideal. Men and women who have tried this plan are so weak they spend another three weeks regaining their strength.

The body functions, even during sleep. The cells are always working, the heart continues to beat, breathing and digestion go on as usual, and the brain cells are relatively active.

It is difficult to recommend the ideal vacation because we all differ in our likes and dislikes. Some persons spend their vacations climbing mountains and enjoy every minute of it. They might work harder physically than on their regular job but this is more than compensated for by the relaxation, fresh air, good food and delightful rest at night.

These people would be bored by fishing, bathing at the shore, or planned activities at resorts. They cannot relax, and the monotony of sitting still would be a wasted vacation for them.

Men and women who love the water and relax when casting along the shore or quietly fishing, find nothing more enjoyable than a good fishing trip. Deep-sea fishing and salmon fishing may be as strenuous as mountain climbing but those who like it return home rested and as fresh as a daisy.

These activities are mentioned to demonstrate that the ideal vacation should fulfill certain requirements. Stress must be minimized to allow recuperation of body processes.

The vacation should offer an opportunity of switching temporarily to an independent and enjoyable way of life. Three weeks is long enough but from the medical point of view, a vacation should last until recuperation is complete.

Many unforeseen things can happen to spoil the best trip. Rain, seasickness, injury, and illness are a few. Many of these discomforts are preventable if proper measures are taken.

AUTOMATION

H. W. S. writes: In your health hint you said automation softens muscles but I cannot find the word automation in my dictionary. Since I want to increase my vocabulary, please explain the meaning of the word.

REPLY

The latest editions of dictionaries carry the word—at least Merriam Webster's does. The meaning, as given, is: "Automatically controlled operation of an apparatus, process, or system, especially by electronic devices."

THIRSTY HUSBAND

Mrs. L. writes: My husband drinks four to five glasses of cold water at a time, he is so thirsty. I fear he has diabetes but he won't go for a checkup.

REPLY

The chances that he has diabetes are slim but why not ask him to provide you with a specimen to take to your physician? If the results are negative, there is a good possibility that your fears are unjustified.

NOT IN FOODS

D. R. writes: If you lack hydrochloric acid, are there any foods that can supply it?

REPLY

No. Hydrochloric acid is available in liquid form or in capsules containing glutamic acid hydrochloride.

BLOOD NOT AFFECTED. H. L. writes: Do hemorrhoids affect the entire blood stream?

REPLY

No. Involvement is local, except for the disposition.

WEIGHT IN PREGNANCY. Mrs. W. writes: Isn't it unusual to lose weight during pregnancy?

REPLY

Yes. A digestive problem usually is responsible.

Business Mirror

 AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The well-heeled investor's darlings — tax exempt bonds — are expected to hit a new high in volume this year. Bond dealers are confident today that rising yields and high taxes will help them sell the lot.

State and municipal offerings were just under 7 billion dollars in 1957. They climbed to nearly 7½ billion last year, and bond men say they may top 8 billion dollars in 1959.

Already there's a whopping total outstanding for any one to buy if he wants to cut his federal income tax payments. At the start of the year there were 54 billion dollars of such issues, 3½ times as many as just 12 years before.

Offerings are expected to increase because state and local governments face a growing demand for civic service facilities. It's unlikely taxes can be hiked enough to take care of all immediate needs. Borrowing must be increased.

Tax-conscious investors are giving state and municipal securities a bigger play because yields on them are approaching those on some common stocks. For taxpayers in the upper brackets, the return may be higher.

If a man without dependents has a net taxable income of $10-

000-$12,000 (38 per cent tax bracket) and can find a tax-exempt bond paying 4 per cent, he is getting a yield equal to 6.45 per cent on a blue chip common stock on which he must pay taxes. Such yields on blue chips are few and far between.

The big flood of municipals since the war has sent yields higher. Anticipated larger offerings may hike yields again. And if heavy U.S. Treasury offerings, or an increase in corporate security flotations, send yields on taxable bonds higher, the taxless variety may tag along too in competition for available investment funds.

Most outstanding tax-exempts are of the general obligation variety. That means interest and yearly amortization are paid out of state or municipality general funds — raised by taxation of the property, sales or other tax variety. The various governments stand fully behind them, so they can be sold at lower interest costs than can revenue bonds.

This second variety pays interest and amortization out of collections of tolls or other fees paid by users of the specific project. They aren't a burden on the general taxpayer. Since they depend on the success of the project they financed, interest charges are usually higher.

To Speak at Titusville

Titusville Business and Professional Women's Club, Oil Centennial Committee, has completed arrangements to have Ivy Baker Priest, United States treasurer, as guest of the club at a dinner in Titusville April 9, and to give a lecture in the high school auditorium at 8:30 p. m. for the public. Invitations have been sent all BPW clubs in District One.

A book form of her autobiography "Ivy Grows Green," written by herself, will also be available and autographed by her. Any further information may be obtained from the local BPW club president.

Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest was born September 7, 1905, at Kimberly, Utah, daughter of Orange Decatur and Clara Fearnley Baker. She attended the elementary schools of Bingham Canyon, Utah, and was graduated from Bingham High School. Being the eldest of seven children, she took over the family responsibilities when her father became ill. Later, she continued her education through extension courses at the University of Utah. She became a telephone operator and was advanced to supervisor and then went into merchandising, working during the day and teaching classes in American history and citizenship at night.

She became interested in political affairs and, in 1934, became president of the Utah State Young Republicans. She married Roy Fletcher Priest December 7, 1935, and moved to Bountiful, Utah. From 1936 to 1940, she was Western Regional Director of the Young Republican National Federation, and from 1940 to 1944 she was a member of the Utah State Republican Committee. She was a member of the Republican National Committee for Utah from 1944 to January, 1953. On August 15, 1952, she was appointed assistant to the chairman of the Republican National Committee and head of the women's division. She has served as vice president and secretary of the Republican organization of the 11 western states.

Her interest in public service

IVY BAKER PRIEST
U. S. Treasurer

has been reflected in her work as president of the Utah State Women's Legislative Council, as vice president of the Utah Safety Council and in the General Federation of Women's Clubs and other civic organizations. She took the lead in winning the first minimum wage for working women in Utah, and participated in the establishment of the Youth Center for Davis County at Bountiful.

She resigned from the Republican National Committee when she was designated to be Treasurer of the United States. The nomination was confirmed January 27, 1953, and she assumed office January 28, 1953.

In 1953, Mrs. Priest received an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Rider College at Trenton, N. J., a Doctor of Science in Business Administration from Bryant College of Providence, R. I. and a Doctor of Humane Letters from Elmira College, Elmira, N. Y. Mrs. Priest is the mother of three children: Mrs. Pierce A. Jensen; Nancy Ellen, 16; Roy Baker, 14. The family's home is in Arlington, Va.

Philomel Club Has Pleasing Program

At the final regular meeting of the current season for Philomel Club members, held at the Woman's Club Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. D. D. Patterson, Jr., president, conducted the business session, and reminded members the Spring Luncheon will be held April 15. This will conclude another educational and enjoyable year of Philomel activities.

Mrs. James Potter, program chairman, related interesting facts concerning Leonard Bernstein, around whom the program was built. Mr. Bernstein, a versatile figure in the world of music and American born, is composer, conductor and pianist. The word "magic" is often applied in describing this man, who has conducted many of the finest symphony orchestras, and is credited with at least one opera, several symphonies, scores for musical comedies, and who presents a popular television program to the American public.

Participating in the program were the following performing members: Mrs. James Potter, Mrs. Eugene Cease, Mrs. Edward Slick, Mrs. P. W. Wilkins, Mrs. Francis Ericsson, accompanied by Mrs. H. B. Meacham and Mrs. T. H. Conway. In charge of the delightful tea which was served following the program was Mrs. Laverne Hull, hostess chairman, and her committee. Pouring were Mrs. J. R. McLaughlin and Mrs. C. L. Thompson.

Spring Activities Of Catholic Women

The regular April meeting of Court Warren, Catholic Daughters of America, was held last evening in St. Joseph's hall with a good attendance present.

The highlights of the business at hand were plans for the rummage sale, the Communion breakfast and naming a nominating committee.

The committee in charge of the rummage sale will be Ann Suppa, Helen Long and Nancy Shaffer. It will be held April 16 and 17 under Finley's Sport Store and goods may be delivered there the three days previous or by calling one of the committee. All members are asked to help in this project.

The Communion breakfast will be May 24 at the Penn Laurel, preceded by the Mass at Holy Redeemer church. The committee will be (phone numbers indicating those to be called for reservations): Nancy Daye (3230-R), Roseclaire Curran (2557), Rose Bonavita (3958), Mary Margaret O'Neil, Elizabeth Donick and Nan Healy.

Contributions for the Frances Maher Memorial Fund were received and each member is asked to make a voluntary offering to the grand regent, Nancy Shaffer, either by mail or by calling her and it will be collected. A chapel is to be erected in memory of Miss Maher who was well known here, and it is expected that everyone who knew her will want to contribute in her memory.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Clifford Bollinger gave a talk — "Angels," explaining very briefly but thoroughly the feeling of the retarded child and the family who has one. She also told of the great work of the teachers and others who are helping them spiritually and otherwise. Mrs. Bollinger is well known locally for her work in this field.

A buffet lunch was served from a table beautifully centered with yellow roses by the following committee: Agnes Leofsky, Frances Zolko, Pauline Stee, Helen Yucha, Stella Yucha and Mary Soback.

GRASS SEEDING POPULAR

Nearly 75 acres out of every 100 acres of cropland in the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank through 1958 are being planted to grass, according to N. E. Dodd, Chairman of the Warren County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Seeding Conservation Reserve land to grass was by far the most popular conservation use. The planting of forest trees was the second most popular conservation cover with almost 11 acres out of each 100 acres scheduled for tree planting.

WHEAT ACREAGE SURVEY

Every farm in Warren County which grows winter wheat has been contacted by an Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation performance reporter, Mr. Bensink of the Warren County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office said today. The basic purpose of the check just completed, Mr. Bensink said, is to determine whether the farmer has planted wheat in excess of his acreage allotment. A farmer who is over his allotment has the opportunity to dispose of excess acres before 20 June 1959 and come into allotment compliance, which makes him eligible for price support and enables him to market all his wheat without marketing quota penalties.

Music Publisher Sends Gifts to State Hospital

Warren State Hospital this week received 40 cartons of candy as a gift from Jerry Vogel, New York music publisher, who asked that it be dedicated to the birthday, April 15, of his good friend Julie LaMotta of the Fred Fisher Music Co., New York. Mr. Vogel's hobby is the Jerry Vogel Foundation which each year send out hundreds of thousands of candy gifts to hospitalized folk throughout the nation. Every few months the patients at Warren State Hospital receive almost 3,000 of his candy packages, which are distributed at noon meal time under the direction of Chief Supervisor Gordon C. Reuff.

Weekly Food Review
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If you had your fill of turkey and ham at Easter, switch this weekend to beef or lamb. Both are featured as specials by many grocery stores.
Ham and poultry are still the best buys. But some big food chains have chopped a few cents a pound from prices of chuck roast, rib roast, sirloin tip roast and leg of lamb.
Pork prices are also lower in some cities.
Egg prices are the lowest in months.
Fresh fruits and vegetables are glutting big city markets.
The U. S. Agriculture Department lists these best vegetable buys:
New cabbage from Florida, iceberg lettuce from Arizona, pascal celery from Florida and California, Western carrots bunched or tipped, Western asparagus, bunched broccoli, Eastern potatoes, escarole, collards and kale.
Good buys include Western potatoes, round red potatoes from Florida, storage sweet potatoes from New Jersey, spinach, endives and Michigan hot house rhubarb.
Oranges are a top buy. Grapefruit, pineapples and bananas are plentiful and cheap.
Bosc and anjou pears are classed by market specialists as fairly good buys.

It is perfectly all right to swap horses in mid-stream if your first horse breaks a leg. Otherwise, you had best stay with him.

South's four heart contract looked reasonable enough to him. He needed either the heart finesse or a successful guess for the jack of clubs to insure it.

The deuce of spades opening gave him another idea. He could strip the hand of diamonds and spades, play ace and another trump and if trumps broke the man with the lead would have to play clubs for him. So South won the first spade in dummy and led the deuce of diamonds. East went up with the queen and South had his horse-swapping idea.

Obviously East held both the king and queen of diamonds so that the jack could be estab-

Reveal Plans for Reorganization of Nat'l Guard

A plan for the complete reorganization of the Pennsylvania Army National Guard was announced today by Major General A. J. Drexel Biddle, Adjutant General of Pennsylvania. It features the early conversion of Pennsylvania's famed 28th "Keystone" Division to the "Pentomic" organization already in effect throughout the Active Army. Only minor changes will be made in present Anti-aircraft Artillery and Armored Cavalry elements. Other elements of the Pennsylvania Army National Guard will be reorganized and strengthened to conform to the Army's Pentomic structure, and to play more important roles among the nation's Ready Reserve forces. Reorganization is to be completed prior to annual active duty for training this summer.

The Adjutant General acknowledged that the final plan would not please everyone. "There will be some communities, affected by this plan, which would prefer to have units of a different type than we have been able to allocate," General Biddle said. "Some of our most valued and esteemed citizen supporters of local units will be disappointed in the results."

"We must live with this new organization for many years to come," the Adjutant General concluded. "We have made every effort to consider the historic associations, accomplishments and traditions of our individual units. However, we have had in a number of instances to pocket any special desires and considerations in the interests or practical overall requirements."

Warren's Company I, 112th Infantry Regiment is designated in the new organization listing as one-half infantry rifle company.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The greatest remaining indoor circus in America is the average business office.

It has more acts than Barnum and Bailey ever dreamed of. But one of the best sideshows is watching how the animals in the office go about starting their daily circus routine.

Here are some typical star performers you can see in action in your own office practically every morning:

Alibi Ike—"The Doc told me I oughta stay in bed at least a couple more days," he says on arrival. This means he really is too sick to work, and no matter what goes wrong during the day you can't blame him as he is a real hero to be there at all.

The Quick Change Artist—This ambitious secretary gets to the office five minutes early so she can erase her ride-the-bus face and replace it with her greet-the-boss face. As soon as the boss is in his sanctum, she goes downstairs to the drugstore and spends a half hour at breakfast.

The Supreme Organist—The initial problem of the boss is to decide which button to press among the row of buzzers on his desk. "Let me see," he muses, "who'll I scare first today?"

The Proud Grouch—He speaks to no one, but takes out pen and pad and starts figuring how many more months, days and hours he will have to spend in this wilderness of ineptitude before he can retire and start mungling with a better class of people.

The Guilty Innocent—Fervorously he sets about doing work he should have finished yesterday, and he hopes nobody will find him out. What he doesn't realize is that 9 out of 10 people in the office still are putting off the work they should have done the day before yesterday.

The Boy Wonder—This pink-cheeked junior executive fidgets until 9:03 a.m., then bursts in on the boss to brag about all the work he did at home the night before. The boss is impressed. He makes a mental note to fire the guy at the first opportunity—to safeguard his own job.

The Efficiency Expert—He strides briskly into his office, closes the door, then lies down and takes a three-hour nap. He feels perfectly safe. Nobody ever watches an efficiency expert. They figure he's always watching them.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

NEW YORK (AP)—U. S. mills made a record 318,345 tons of paperboard last week and lifted first-quarter output to 3,633,000 tons, 12 per cent ahead of the 1958 quarter, according to the National Paperboard Assn. Last week's production was 19 per cent greater than a year ago.

NEW YORK (AP)—Electric Storage Battery Co. has purchased for cash the assets and business of the American Machine & Foundry Co. battery laboratory in Raleigh, N. C. The price was not disclosed.

NEW YORK (AP)—Western Electric Co. has been awarded a $9,950,000 Army contract for planning on the Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile and another $8,900,000 contract for work on Nike-Hercules anti-aircraft missile equipment. Western Electric is the production subsidiary of American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Cancer Control Month Proclamation

"Because cancer is one of the most critical health problems our community, our state, and our nation has ever faced, and because important progress in the battle to control cancer has been made through the efforts of voluntary agencies such as the American Cancer Society and its programs of research, education, and service, I hereby, proclaim April 1959 as Cancer Control Month, and earnestly invite the fullest and most generous support for the annual Cancer Crusade that its life-saving work may continue. I also urge the medical profession, the press, the radio, and all agencies concerned to join actively in observance of Cancer Control Month."

Khrushchev, the Man West Must Deal With at Summit

KHRUSHCHEV: KEY TO THE KREMLIN
Part III

Editor's Note—This summer's summit meeting, if it comes off, will seat President Eisenhower across the table from a man experienced in the arts of political infighting and Communist intrigue. This article, third of a series of five, tells more of the kind of antagonist Khrushchev can be.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
Stubby Nikita Khrushchev planted himself in the middle of a field, surrounded by awed farmers and Communist functionaries. A brisk breeze fanned to motion the tiny wisps of white hair on his nearly naked round dome.

"Here," exclaimed Khrushchev, pointing dramatically to the corn "is the complete sausage on he handle! Here is beefsteak; here is bacon! How will these plants look in a month and a half, when harvest comes? The cobs will be a half yard long. Now you understand why I am so enthusiastic about corn!"

Khrushchev owed much of his career to his interest in agriculture and his knowledge of the farmer. Boss at last, he could talk confidently about his big ideas. It hadn't been so in the past. His first big idea about farming, in fact, almost cost him his head.

As a member of Stalin's inner Politburo and boss of the Ukraine, Khrushchev conceived the idea of revolutionizing collective farming as a step toward the goal of Communism.

In general charge of Soviet agriculture was Andrei Andreyevich Andreyev, old "triple A," weak, inefficient, always tottering on the edge of disaster. For the aggressive Khrushchev, Andreyev was a pushover.

Farms, said Khrushchev, would be transformed into agricultural factories. Farmers would become farm industry workers. Small collectives would be merged on a vast scale into huge farm factories.

He reckoned without the peasants. There was grumbling, resentment, even resistance. He pushed through thousands of amalgamations, but suddenly Stalin slapped him down and halted the program.

The coal miner from Kursk listened in brooding silence at the 20th Communist Congress in October, 1952. Georgi Malenkov, Stalin's dour right hand, referred to Khrushchev as one of "our individual executive workers" who erred in trying to force farm consolidation.

But Khrushchev had bounce. He emerged from the 1952 congress a member of the expanded Presidium which supplanted the Politburo, and a member of an expanded party secretariat. He lost no time in nailing down his influence.

Malenkov would live to rue his words. Long after Stalin's death, Khrushchev would revert to 1952 and blame Malenkov for the sorry state of Soviet agriculture then. He would succeed in having Malenkov thrown out of the hierarchy.

Shortly after the 1952 congress, the lives of all Politburo members were in grave danger. Stalin, to quote a diplomat of the day, had "reached for the bottle again." A new blood purge was in the making. Stalin's assistants fabricated a fantastic story about a plot of doctors, most of them Jewish, to poison Stalin and other leading figures.

Luckily for the Politburo—some say it was more than coincidence—Stalin died in March 1953.

Malenkov took both of Stalin's jobs: premier and first party secretary, in control of both party and government. Within two weeks, Khrushchev nudged Malenkov from the party job.

Those were nervous days. The new leadership, calling itself "collective," felt impelled to promise abundance to the long suffering public. It apparently felt the need of popular support, something unheard of in Stalin's day. The whole fantastic story of the doctor's plot was reversed.

Next: Waiting for the shrimp to whistle.

CORYDON

CORYDON—Mrs. Eugene Crooks, teacher of the Junior Sunday School class of the Church of the Nazarene, entertained members with a party during the Easter season at the Davis home, Main street. The evening was spent pleasantly with games, and concluded with refreshments. Present were Douglas and Dennis Davis, Vera Ruth, Corydon; Carol Sparks, Hazel Mills, Onoville. The primary class of the church also enjoyed an Easter party when their teacher, Mrs. Donald Goddard, entertained and served refreshments.

Special Easter services were held Sunday in both the Methodist and Nazarene churches, with a good attendance. Inspiring messages were presented by both Rev. William Hills and Rev. Viola Burch. Numerous floral offerings, presented in memory of loved ones, were attractively arranged at the altar. Students of the Sunday School classes at the Church of the Nazarene presented their annual program.

Garth Stoltz, Jr., attending Atlantic College in South Lancaster, Mass., spent the Easter recess with his parents here. Other Easter visitors were Harry Hammond, Salamanca; the Shultz family, Bradford, and a number of others.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Whyte and sons have returned from Cleveland, O., where they spent the Easter weekend.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ruth included Mr. and Mrs. Reed Thomas, also their son and family, Erie; Mr. and Mrs. Benny Reichenbach and children, North East; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Seibert, Bradford; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ruth, Oil City.

Mrs. Alberta Oaks and son, Larry, have returned to their home here after spending the winter season in Bradford.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Akers, Warren, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Akers, on their 64th wedding anniversary March 27. Spending the day quietly with family and friends, the couple received gifts and many congratulatory messages.

Snoe Hulett, of Corry, former local resident, visited friends here on the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bennett and daughter, Ann, Cassadaga, are visiting at the Roy Bennett home here, and at the home of Mrs. Ella Fogle, Kinzua.

DRIVE CAREFULLY!

Sizing Up the Teams

RED SOX

By CHARLES MAHER
 SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox last season had the American League's leading hitter, its second leading pitcher, and its RBI champion, who also turned out to be the most valuable player.

Trouble is, in the final standings, the Red Sox were listed as only the third best team.

The Sox this year have what could be a slightly more formidable organization. Manager Mike Higgins sees improvement.

"The pitching should be a little improved," Mike said. "For one thing, Tom Brewer had a slow start last year. Came to training with the mumps. He's coming along real good now. He's worth more than 12 games." (Brewer was 12-13 in 1958).

Higgins also hopes to get some help from at least one of the youngsters on his staff. He's had his eye on a couple of lefthanders, Frank Baumann and Ed Bowsfield, and he wants a good look at Bill Monbouquette, a righthander who has been under six-month contract to the Army.

Older hands on the staff include Ike Delock (14-8), Frank Sullivan (12-9), Mike Fornieles (4-6) and Willard Nixon (1-7). Dave Sisler (6-9) and Herb Moford (4-9) with Detroit and 6-0 with Charleston may be used in relief with Leo Kiley (5-2) and Murray Wall (6-9).

The Red Sox were fifth in team hitting last year with a .256 average, but somehow they look stronger than that. First, of course there's Ted Williams, a 40-year-old outfielder who won his sixth batting title last year, hitting .328. Williams, of course, is doubtful for the early weeks because of a neck ailment — for which he is under treatment in Boston.

Behind him Pete Runnels, a second baseman who hit .322. Then there's Jack Jensen, who hit .286, drove in 122 runs and won the most valuable player award.

At third base is Frank Malzone, who hit a solid .292 year before last and nudged it up to .295 last season.

Vic Wertz, a first baseman acquired from Cleveland, may well be the most important newcomer on the roster. Wertz missed most of the 1958 season because of a broken ankle. But in 11 previous years in the majors he drove in 928 runs, about 84 a year, which is not a bad average. The Sox have picked up another swift fellow named Jim Busby who hit .237 for Baltimore. They also have Mary Keough (.220) and Gene Stephens (.219). Bill Renna (.238) can pinch hit.

The shortstop probably will be Don Buddin (.237) or Pumpsie Green (.233 with Minneapolis). Big Haywood Sullivan, disabled last season, joins Sammy White (.239) on the catching staff.

Next—The Washington Senators.

Architect Likes Golf Course Area; Construction at "Hill" to Begin

Maple Leafs May Go All Way in Hockey Playoffs

By The Associated Press

Back in the late season form that gained them a playoff berth against overwhelming odds, the Toronto Maple Leafs now may go all the way in the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs.

The semifinals in the battle for hockey's most prized possession resume tonight with the Leafs at Boston and the Chicago Black Hawks at Montreal. Each of the best-of-7 series are tied at 2-2.

Toronto won its last five games to squeeze into the playoffs on the last night of the regular NHL season.

The Leafs seemed done when they lost the first two games of the playoff to Boston, but they squared the series with two thrilling overtime victories on their home ice.

"We're coming and they're going," exclaimed Toronto Coach Punch Imlach. "We're out to get this one."

In Montreal the Black Hawks are equally confident of upsetting the Canadians, the NHL champions trying for their fourth Stanley Cup.

Actual construction of the new 18-hole golf course at Blueberry Hill in Elk Township will start within a few days after another visit by architect James G. Harrison of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Harrison is here today and will be in attendance for a luncheon-meeting Friday noon.

A member of Board of Directors of Golf Course Architects' Society and its former president, Harrison was so impressed with the potentialities of the location that it has been decided to go ahead with the 18 holes rather than nine-hole course as previously announced.

The golf architect will stake out the fairways this week in preparation for construction, expected to begin Monday.

Pleased with the natural character of the 200-acre plot, Harrison has declared that it will be one of the finest courses in the area, "a real championship course." Long course will be approximately 6,550 yards, regular course is 6,500 yards, Harrison said it will definitely be the type of course which can be used for a state open championship.

"Regular course will be a good, exciting course for the average golfer," stated Harrison, "yet the long course will be an excellent test for the very best golfer. Tees will be 40 by 80 feet, ladies' tees where needed. Greens will be large and of the finest quality, none finer in this area. They will average between 5,000 and 7,000 square feet and will be trapped very sportily."

"Fairways will be planted with Penceross creeping red fescue and greens will be planted with Penceross bent. Both of these high class strains of grass were developed by Dr. Musset of Pennsylvania State University, one of the top agronomists in the country."

Continuing, Harrison explained "The pond, which is to be used for water supply on the course, will jut out into one of the fairways and will border a green. Part of the course will be 72. Course will benefit all of Warren County, not only by increasing business but as a play spot for many who do not now have a nearby golf course to use."

Mileage to Blueberry Hill is: 12 miles from Warren, 19 from Jamestown, Salavanza 26, 24 from Bradford, Kane 41, and 149 miles from Pittsburgh.

Since plans for Blueberry Hill were announced less than two weeks ago, many golfers and prospective players have visited the Hill and have acted enthusiastically over plans for the course and natural beauty of the location.

Sawyer: "Let's Not Get Panicky" Over Slump

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—"Don't judge us too harshly on the basis of a few exhibition games," manager Eddie Sawyer was saying. "We ought to do better. It's a cinch we can't do worse."

The Philadelphia Phillies manager was talking Wednesday to anyone who would listen. His Phils had just played their last exhibition game at their spring training camp, an 8-0 loss to Los Angeles and the team's second straight shutout.

The Phillies play Baltimore at Miami today and Sawyer hopes a change of scenery will snap the slump. Only six exhibition games remain.

"Let's not get panicky," Sawyer said. "I've seen and heard about a lot of outstanding ball clubs having trouble winning in Florida. I like to think we'll be okay when the bell rings. We did all right until the last week or so when the pitching and hitting came undone all of a sudden."

Brown Not Satisfied With Pirate Hitting

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—General Manager Joe L. Brown of the Pittsburgh Pirates finds only one thing wrong with his team — hitting.

"I certainly would like to see the Pirates hit more than they have thus far," said Brown Wednesday.

Otherwise the general manager has no complaints. He thinks the Pirates have "a pretty good" club but refused to predict where it would finish in the National League standings.

Brown expressed particular satisfaction over Ted Kluszewski, Don Hoak and Smokey Burgess. Hoak and Burgess were acquired in a trade with Cincinnati.

"Klu has been swinging the bat better than ever," said Brown, "and I'm pleased with the play of both Hoak and Burgess."

Much Interest Develops In NBA-Style Game Here

Interest is steadily growing in the NBA-style basketball game in Beaty gym Saturday night between Warren area stars and Farrell All-Stars, headed by the fabulous Julius McCoy.

In a telephone conversation last evening with the former Michigan State All-American, it was learned that the Farrell crew of ten men will arrive in Warren about 3 p. m. Saturday.

Men will rest here prior to the 8:15 tip off.

Supporting McCoy will be one of the most outstanding cagers from Farrell area, long noted for its top notch basketball teams. Farrell high school teams have won four State championships in past nine seasons.

In his telephone conversation, McCoy gave every indication that his charges play a driving game in an all-out effort to win.

Warren combine will be led by George Hesch, all-time great from Gannon, who is well known to local fans for his court maneuvers. A complete rundown on players from both squads will be announced Friday.

"It appears as though local fans who are starged for top notch basketball will see a contest with a truly professional flavor this Saturday," a committee spokesman forecast.

Proceeds from the benefit game will go to Bob Wolfe, who sustained a fractured arm playing in the recent YMCA tournament.

Preliminary game between Knicks and Hawks of YMCA Junior loop, who, incidentally will decide the team championship tonight, will be featured at 7:15.

Tickets are available at: United Cigar, Logans, Olson-Bjers, Style Shop, West Side Confectionery, and East Side sub station post office. Ducaats may also be purchased at the door in Beaty beginning at 6:45 Saturday.

Palmer Defends Masters' Title At Augusta, Ga.

By MERCER BAILEY
 Associated Press Sports Writer
 AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, a muscular young man from Latrobe, Pa., sets out today with hopes of accomplishing something no other golfer has ever done—successfully defend his Masters' title.

Since grand-slam king Bob Jones and Cliff Roberts launched this classic event 25 years ago, some of the biggest names in the game have won it. A few have won it more than once.

But none has been able to tame this demanding 6,980-yard Augusta National course and the talent-rich field two years running.

Palmer isn't favored to shatter precedent. In fact there is no outstanding favorite in the field. Among those claiming most attention were Sam Snead, Ken Venturi and Jack Burke Jr.

The top threats in the 10-man foreign field appeared to be Australia's Peter Thompson, who has won four of the past five British Opens; South Africa's Gary Player, who fired a 64 in his final tuneup round, and Spain's Angel Miguel, individual champion of the 1958 Canada Cup matches in Mexico City.

Harris Winner of Lop-Sided Verdict In Freeman Bout

By WHITEY SWAYNE

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Roy Harris possessed about $5,500, a cut forehead and another victory over Donnie Fleeman today, but his manager didn't think he was any closer to a rematch with World Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson.

"I don't think so," You Viscusi, Harris' manager, laughed when asked whether he thought the one-sided victory brought the Texas heavyweight champion from Cut and Shoot any closer to a rematch with Patterson. Patterson cut Harris' ti ribbons last year for a TKO.

Previously Viscusi, of Houston, had said he felt if Harris won big it would help him toward a rematch.

Harris won a lop-sided margin over Fleeman, but he had to jab his way to it from behind a mask of blood. Late in the fight Harris landed freely, but was unable to score a knockdown Wednesday night.

A butt in the second round opened a ragged, two-inch cut over o'ey's eye. It bled badly until after the seventh, when his seconds stopped the bleeding and Fleeman was unable to hit him and reopen the cut.

Fleeman, 183, of Midlothian, Tex., looked good in the early rounds, especially the second and third, but he faded badly and was a well-beaten fighter by the end of the 12-round, nationally televised bout.

Harris weighed 198.

Missouri Team Takes Over in Second Place

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Body of St. Charles, Mo., took over second place in the booster division of the 56th annual American Bowling Congress Tournament Wednesday with a 2771 series.

There was no change in the top 10 standings of the singles, doubles all-events or open team divisions.

The St. Charles team rolled games of 945, 867 and 958, falling 77 pins short of the booster division leader, Miami Lanes of Troy, Ohio.

New Gimmick Offered By Navy Eleven Coach

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Eddie Edelatz liked the "lonesome end" and "Chinese bandits" ideas of last football season. Now the Navy coach is offering his own gimmick.

The best Navy players will be divided into two teams of equal strength and the two units will relieve one another every seven or eight minutes.

One sportswriter has already tabbed it a "22 sidoo" plan.

The Navy coach unveiled his new strategy Wednesday at a press conference.

Training Camp News

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The first returns are in on last week's controversial Sam Jones-Bill White trade between the St. Louis Cardinals and San Francisco Giants. It looks like Card General Manager Bing Devine might not have gotten the bad end after all.

Devine was criticized for giving Jones, his pitching mainstay last season with a 14-13 record, to the Giants for White, who has only little more than a season of major league experience.

Jones, in his first start for Giants, was blasted for nine hits and 10 runs in four innings Wednesday by the Chicago Cubs who beat the Giants, 10-5. Among the hits were three-run homers by rookie George Altman and Moose Morin.

Jones, last year's National League strikeout king, walked three and fanned four.

On the other hand, White has made a more favorable impression on Cards manager Solly Hemus — at least until his error paved the way for a five-run New York Yankee ninth inning that gave the world champions a 5-1 victory Wednesday.

Hemus decided before the game to give White the first base job and move Joe Cunningham to right field. White has hit three home runs and batted over 300 since joining the Cards. Cunningham has been hitting under .200 all spring.

In other exhibition games, Cleveland edged Boston 5-4, Los Angeles shutout the Philadelphia Phillies 8-0, Cincinnati defeated Washington 6-4, the Chicago White Sox humbled the Milwaukee Braves 8-5, the Kansas City A's won over Detroit 4-3 and Baltimore edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 in a 12-inning night game.

Rookie Jerry Casale's wild pitch let in the winning Cleveland run in the eighth inning. The Indians' Herb Score pitched three innings, giving up four runs on homers by Sammy White and Frank Malzone but striking out eight.

Gil Hodges' homer and double and Duke Snider's triple and double powered Los Angeles to its victory while Eddie Kasko's eighth-inning triple sparked the Cincinnati win.

The White Sox routed Joey Jay with a five-run eighth inning in its victory and A's pinchhitter Preston Ward slammed a two-run homer in the ninth inning to beat the Tigers.

Al Pillard singled in the 12th inning to give Baltimore its victory, scoring Jim Finigan from second base.

In other major trading action, the Baltimore Orioles traded temperamental right-handed pitcher Billy Loos to the Washington Senators for right-hander Vito Valentinetti.

Sword Dancer was a second choice at 2-1 while Trilous was third choice at 5-2.

C.L.U. Meeting Is Host to Visitors Here From Abroad

(Contributed)

The recent meeting of the Warren County Central Labor Council was privileged to have as guests the European Junior Executives sponsored here by the Jaycees. The management group displayed a keen interest in U. S. working conditions etc. The exchange of information proved very interesting and educational. Time was too short for a thorough exchange of all desired information by the European guests and Council members.

The well attended meeting resulted in a resolution endorsing a graduated income tax for Pennsylvania to replace the present sales tax and so called nuisance taxes. The Council's feeling is that the sales tax results in too much leakage, excessive administration costs, too burdensome for those who collect the tax at retail levels, and not based on ability to pay. The graduated income tax is based on ability to pay and could be deducted from payrolls as is done in New York State. All lodges are being asked to consider the resolution and send their thoughts to Rep. Gibson, Sen. Chapman and Gov. Lawrence.

Council learned that I. A. M. lodges are sending delegates to Washington, D. C. to take part in the Unemployment Conference to be held there on April 7th. The gathering is being held in order to bring the unemployment situation to the attention of the administration and the public. The unemployment level is remaining high while other sectors of our economy have risen to and even surpassed their pre-recession levels. Other lodges desiring to send delegates may contact Tony Bonavita at 507-J. Charter bus arrangements are now being made in Jamestown.

Pittsburgh Buccaneers

Part II—First Base
"Who's on first?" the late Lou Costello used to ask Bud Abbott. But this same question applies to this year's Pittsburgh Pirates. And it's a question that has Manager Danny Murtaugh puzzled.

He has three candidates in camp right now—Ted Kluszewski, Dick Stuart and Rock Nelson—and one more in the Army—R. C. Stevens—who should be discharged in May.

It goes without saying that Stevens is the best fielder. But he won't be available for the start of the season. And there is a question of his hitting. He started the '58 season with the Pirates and broke up the opening game with a single. Everytime R. C. Swung a bat early in '58 he drove in the winning or tying runs. Then he started to slump. On July 4, R. C. was sent to Salt Lake City in exchange for first baseman Dick Stuart.

Big Stu, confident, cool, rookie who trained with the '57 Pirates after hitting 66 home runs in '56 with Lincoln, was expected to add power to Pirates' attack. And he did. He hit a homer in a losing cause in his first major league game, and hit a grand slam.

Stuart hit a homer in his second. He can hit the ball a country mile. He can also strike out. He finished with 16 homers, 48 RBIs and 75 strikeouts for half a season last year.

Then there's the veteran Ted Kluszewski. Big Klu played 110 games last year, but had only 37 RBIs and four homers.

He's been swinging like the Klu of old though in camp games. And if he has no recurrence of the back injury that bothered him for two years, he could play regularly. This would mean a lot to the '59 Pirates who aspire to better their '58 second place finish.

Which brings up the question of Rocky Nelson. The minor league's annual batting champion is a better fielder than either Stu or Klu. Stu lacks the experience at first and Klu, of course, is hampered by his back. But Nelson is also a question mark. He has not hit in his previous major league trails—but he's hitting this spring.

This year, Rocky insists, he will make it if given half a chance. But then, Rocky and Stu both have the utmost confidence in their own ability.

It's a problem—but an interesting one—just who is on first for the '59 Pirates. Maybe someone can find a four-sided coin for Danny Murtaugh to toss to solve it.

Celtics Prepare For World Title; Fear Over-Confidence

BOSTON (AP)—The mighty Boston Celtics feared only over-confidence against the upstart Minneapolis Lakers today while marking time before their series opener for pro basketball's world championship.

"We figure to beat the Lakers, but we have to guard against over-confidence," warned Bob Cousy, Boston's veteran backcourt magician.

"That's right, chimed in Coach Red Auerbach. "We've taken them easily the past two years and then they didn't figure to upset St. Louis. They have everything to gain and nothing to lose."

The Celtics streaked into a National Basketball Assn. title showdown with Minneapolis by coming from behind for a 130-125 victory over the stubborn Syracuse Nationals Wednesday night in the seventh and deciding game of a torrid Eastern division final series.

The opener of the best-of-seven NBA championship series Saturday afternoon at the Boston Garden will find the Celtics seeking their 19th straight triumph over Minneapolis. The Lakers last defeated the Boston club in the final game of the regular 1956-57 campaign.

Despite outward attempts to tone down confidence, the Celtics were unanimous in predicting they would regain the NBA crown they won two years ago.

"This is the greatest team ever—it didn't quit, it didn't quit," Auerbach cried happily in the dressing room.

Union Only Would Serve Beer at Forbes Field

PITTSBURGH (AP)—An official of the Bartenders Union Local 188 says only union bartenders will serve beer at Forbes Field should the sale of beer in baseball parks be legalized.

Lawrence Sarricks, president of the local, said Wednesday he is confident that unions at the park would support the stand for union beer vendors. The current wage scale for bartenders is $19 a day. Sarricks said he is opposed to the beer-sales bill pending in the state legislature. Vendors who now sell soft drinks and other items at the Pittsburgh Pirates' belong to home of the Pittsburgh Pirates belong to Teamsters Local 250 and many are under 21, the age required for selling alcoholic beverages.

of the Communist-free world contest.

To meet that test successfully the greatest need of the non-Communist world is unity and unity is "the very life blood of NATO," he said.

Eisenhower was the headline speaker at the opening ceremonial session.

He referred only briefly to the Berlin crisis with which the Allied leaders of North America and Western Europe are preoccupied.

The Berlin situation dominates the NATO gathering.

"We shall never cease to encourage such a change. Meanwhile, we must be prepared during the years ahead to live in a world in which tension and bickering between free nations and the Soviets will be daily experiences. To do this, freedom's greatest requirement is unity—the unity which is the very life blood of NATO."

Eisenhower said that after World War II there was momentary hope that "mankind had begun to put aside the weapons of war in favor of the tools of peace."

But, he went on, the development of nuclear weapons meant that war could threaten entire civilizations. Almost simultaneously with the realization of this fact, Eisenhower said, came the rise of a new dictatorship—Soviet communism—with such great power that it "openly challenged the concepts of justice and freedom with which our respective nations adhere to and support."

To meet this threat and protect the spiritual foundation of Western civilization against any kind of attack—military, economic or political—NATO was created, Eisenhower said.

"I say it is still up to the Democrats," said Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader.

His Democratic counterpart, Rep. Stephen McCann, pointed toward the governor's office when asked about the future of the once-defeated sales tax.

Both House and Senate recessed Wednesday night until next Monday, leaving the tax problem up in the air.

Johnson, asked if there are any GOP plans to amend the sales tax bill to remove objections, declined comment except to say that this question may come at a GOP caucus next Monday.

The bill would increase the sales tax from 3 to 3½ per cent and remove exemptions on a series of items, including beer and liquor sales and automobile trade-ins.

Removal of these particular exemptions was the focal point of criticism by 17 House Democrats who joined the 102-vote Republican majority in defeating the sales tax measure March 19.

Question of Struggle Enters Nichols Trial

By IRWIN J. MILLER
INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Attorneys defending Minnie B. (Connie) Nicholas fought today against admission of testimony designed to show that her wealthy married lover was not struggling with her when he was shot to death.

Judge Thomas J. Faulconer kept the jury out of the courtroom while he heard arguments on whether a doctor could give an opinion on Forrest Teel's position in his car at the time of the shooting.

The state late Wednesday asked Dr. Emmett C. Pierce, who performed the autopsy on Teel's body, to give an opinion based on the path of the bullets through the body.

The answer expected by prosecutor Philip L. Bayt and his staff—that the wounds indicated Teel was facing straight ahead behind the wheel of his car—would be a blow at the heart of the defense case.

Mrs. Nicholas contends her small French purse revolver fired accidentally as Teel tried to wrestle it away from her to keep her from killing herself over the breakup of their 15-year illicit romance.

The shooting of Teel, an executive vice president of the big drug firm of Eli Lilly & Co., occurred last July 31. Mrs. Nicholas was waiting in Teel's car when he returned to it after an evening in the apartment of his new girl friend, Laura Mowrer.

Mrs. Nicholas was found 20 hours after the shooting, near death from an overdose of sleeping pills she swallowed in a suicide attempt.

Industrial Fair Set to Open On Friday at 6 P.M.

More plans were made last night as the Jaycee committee met at Beaty Cafeteria to lay out the floor scheme in preparation for the tremendous Industrial Fair on Parade Show to be staged on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Doors will swing open at 6 p. m. on Friday evening, and from that time until the closing at 9 p. m. on Saturday, the cafeteria will be a beehive of activity. WNAE will broadcast programs from the Fair during both days, and will cover each activity that goes on. Booths will all be manned by personnel from the respective industries, so that questions may be asked and answered by the many people expected to attend.

One of the features of the show will be the appearance of the eight foreign visitors currently staying with Warren families under the sponsorship of the Warren Jaycees' Experiment in International Living.

Each of these young men has some relationship to industry in his own country, and it will be interesting to many to meet, greet, and discuss with these men the differences and similarities between their industries and the ones on display here in Warren at the show. The eight have expressed great interest in the Industrial Fair, and expect to spend long periods of time touring the various exhibits, acquainting themselves with Warren industries so that they may take back to their own countries a better concept of what the United States has to offer by way of industry, and what new processes are being worked out.

Graham Insists Prayer Can Avert Third World War

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham arrived here from Australia tonight and told a welcoming crowd that world prayer could avert a third world war.

"I am certain that if Christians in China, Russia, the United States, Europe and around the world united in prayer and put the emphasis on spiritual things, we could avert war," Graham said.

"We don't have anything in common racially or politically. One common denominator we do have is spiritual."
